PRAY ADDRESSES COMMUNITY CLUB

Spirit and Method of Modern Social Work Is His Subject.

IS NARBERTH RESIDENT

Before an enthusiastic audience of Women's Community Club members and their guests Kenneth L. M. Pray, a welfare worker in Philadelphia and a resident of Narberth, delivered a lucid and enlightening talk on the spirit and method of modern social work. The club felt particularly grateful to Mr. Pray since he was called upon at the eleventh hour to act as an understudy for McCoy Franklin, of the Crossnore School, N. C., who was unable to fulfill his engagement because of illness.

Miss Sarah Skinner, of the National School of Oratory in Philadelphia, gave two character sketches, which were heartily enjoyed; and Miss Barbara Sutherland, a young pianist and a sub-junior member, gave Chopin's waltz in C minor. Mrs. J. A. Hongler was the hostess of the afternoon.

The speaker outlined the history of social work from primitive times on down, sketching the various forms and pointing out their relations to modern times. "Modern social work draws on the past but is something bigger and better," the speaker pointed out. "It should have the spontaneity, the neighborliness of primitive mutual aid; it must have something of the religious zeal and idealism and fervor of early Christianity; it must have some of the dynamic crusading energy of the mediaeval church; it must have something of the organized, universal power of the modern state; it must have something of the sublime faith in the individual worth and destiny of men that characterized the eighteenth century enthusiasm for democracy; it must have something of the scientific spirit and its openmindedness, its tolerance of individual weakness and difference, and of the great biological awakening of the twentieth century.

"But it must have," Mr. Pray continued, "and it has something more than any of these. Each of these efforts of the past has relied upon some one panacea for social ills. Each has been concentrated on some one aspect of individual life. At one time it was physical health; at another it was spiritual salvation; at another it was economic opportunity; at another it was intellectual development; at another it was biological selection, and so on through the list. The distinction of modern social work is that it recognizes each of these in its place, but is satisfied to deal with none of them alone.

RUNS TWO GARAGES

Edwin H. Wipf, proprietor of the Narberth Garage, has taken over the former Montgomery Garage on Iona avenue, and will operate it in conjunction with the first building. He has renamed the Montgomery Garage, the largest in the borough, Narberth Garage No. 2.

Mr. Wipf began his local garage business eight years ago in a shack back of the old Walton stables. Later he took over the building at 109 Essex avenue, and more recently moved to the garage on the Narberth avenue bridge. The new garage, despite its facilities, has long suffered from poor management in the hands of numerous proprietors. Mr. Wipf plans to re-establish the business by personal supervision.

NO WORK FOR FIREMEN

The Narberth Fire Company was called out on two fruitless excursions last week for n. d. (no damage) alarms. One was at 406 Anthwyn road on February 19, a broken boiler caused the release of a large quantity of steam; the other was a chimney at Remington road and Lancaster avenue on the evening of February 21.

OLD TIMERS' NIGHT

Robert J. Nash has been chosen as speaker for the meeting of the American Legion Monday night, to which former legionnaires have been invited. He will tell of Narberth's growth during the past 15 years.

The meeting is scheduled for 8.15, and in addition to Mr. Nash's talk, will feature good fellowship, eats and smoke. Commander Collins is using every means to make this the biggest meeting the post has held.

TENNIS CLUB HAS UNUSUAL HISTORY

Organized 1902 With Fifteen
Members by A. B. Eyre and Walter Cowin.

MEMBERSHIP NOW 125

As an aftermath of the formation last week of a corporation, the directors of the Narberth Tennis Association have been delving into the history of the local club. An interview with Walter Cowin, charter member of the association, disclosed the following interesting history:

Tennis was first played in Narberth in 1893 at the Narberth Field Club on the southside "near the woods." In 1902 the Narberth Tennis Club was organized by A. B. Eyre and Walter Cowin with a membership of 15 men. They had permission to construct a grass court at the corner of Elmwood and Essex avenues. In 1903 another court was added. At this time the Rockland Club also had a court on Rockland avenue below Essex avenue, and the Presbyterian Church had a court on Hampden avenue.

Matches played between the teams from these three clubs culminated in the formation of the Narberth Tennis Association in 1901. That year the new "Association" constructed three courts adjacent to the old stone Water Tower on the southside. In 1911 a fourth court was constructed on the same plot, and the old Water Tower, which had then fallen into disuse as a source of water supply, was converted into dressing rooms and showers. In 1912 the club moved to the corner of Essex and Elmwood avenues, where it constructed three courts. In 1914 a fourth court was added. In 1921 the club moved to its present site, where is constructed seven clay courts and its first clubhouse by remodeling the building on the premises into a clubhouse containing lockers, showers and dining room.

The club increased its membership from 15 men in 1902 to about 85 men, 25 women and girls, and 15 boys in 1928. During that period the little unincorporated association grew into the present corporation.

The annual club tournament inaugurated in 1904 in men's singles and doubles and mixed doubles tournament was added. Since 1924 the Pennsylvania Clay Court Championship Tournament has been held annually on the club courts.

In addition to the tennis activities, the club has expanded its social activities to an equal degree. It presented two musical comedies, "Our Own Scandalous Revue" in 1920 and "The Sunken Olive Garden," in 1921. From 1922 to 1927, the club held an annual County Fair on its premises with great success. Since 1921 the club has held Saturday night dinners during the tennis season. Numerous bridge parties and formal dances have added to form a well-rounded season of social activity.

Thus upon the solid foundation constructed by the original members has this superstructure been erected and maintained by the tireless efforts of its present officers and members.

BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED

During the month of January, 1928, five applications for building permits were made to the superintendent of public works. Four were granted, one being rejected due to violation of the zoning ordinance. Twenty-seven inspections were made and one operation was completed. The estimated cost of the improvements was $1000.

BUILDING AND LOAN PLAN IS EXPLAINED

New Series to Be Opened at Meeting on March
First.

RATE OF GAIN IS 8.85%

The principal reason for forming building and loan associations was to enable more people to own their homes. Home owners take more interest in the community in which they live; beautify their surroundings; and become better citizens.

When purchasing or building a home, the usual practise is to obtain a first mortgage, which will not be over 50 per cent. of the appraised value of the property. Banks, insurance companies and individuals invest their funds in these first mortgages on homes, considering them one of the best securities in which to invest their money.

As it is not always convenient to pay the balance of the purchase money in cash, arrangements must be made for a second mortgage. A building and loan association will furnish the money for a second mortgage, the amount being the difference between the first mortgage and about 80 per cent. of the appraised value of the property.

If a home was to be purchased for $10,000, the first mortgage would be $5000, the second mortgage would be $3000, and the balance of $2000 would have to be paid in cash by the home owner.

The first mortgage would probably be drawn for five years, but in a great many cases could stay on the property as long as the home owner desired. The second mortgage, in the building and loan association, would be taken care of by the payment of dues and interest each month, and at the end of 11 years and three months would automatically be paid off.

More than likely at the end of the second mortgage the home owner would be in a position to creating a new first mortgage in a building and loan association, and at the end of another period of 11 years and three months, would have the property entirely free of debt.

Systematic saving in the building and loan association creates a fund that can always be borrowed against in an emergency, and it is a great satisfaction to know that you have a fund of this character.

In the annual report of the Narberth Building and Loan Association in this issue of "Our Town," you will notice a line showing stock loans of $103,475. This item covers the money borrowed by stock holders using their own stock as collateral for their loans. These stock loans can be paid back at any meeting or can be carried by the association until the stock matures, when they are automatically paid off, and the balance due the stock holder paid in cash.

During the past year the Narberth Building and Loan Association has matured four series, the 21 and 22 long term, and the 31 and 32 short term, consisting of over 1100 shares and amounting to two hundred and twenty-three thousand, one hundred dollars. This association has at the present time over a million dollars in cash in first and second mortgages on property in Narberth and its surroundings.

The rate of gain has steadily increased, and for last year amounted to 8.85 per cent. and the long term stock is now maturing in 11 years and two months.

LUTHERAN AID MEETS

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Shindle, 125 Elmwood avenue, on Tuesday evening, February 28.

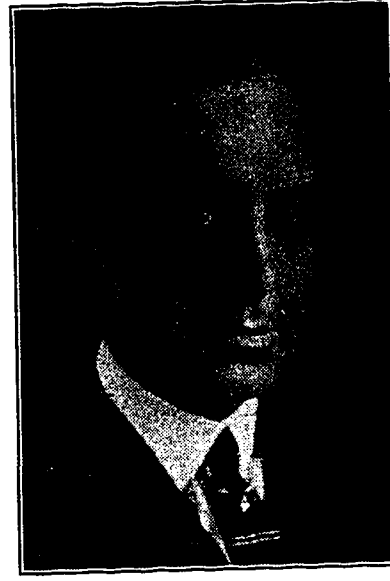

BOARD OF TRADE TO MEET

The Board of Trade will hold a meeting on Monday in the hall of the Narberth Theater building. Amendments to the by-laws are to be considered.

Honored by Fellow-Citizens

Tristan B. du Marais, president of the Narberth Fire Company, who was toastmaster at the annual banquet of his organization held Thursday night in Elm Hall. He was one of the first volunteer firemen of the company and has been associated with it for 31 years.

Charles V. Noel, former Philadelphia fireman and chief of the Narberth company, honored at the dinner. He is also secretary of Narberth council, and chairman of the borough Republican committee. He is secretary of the Aldine Trust Company of Philadelphia.

Old Freight Station Demolished; Work on Concourse to Start Soon

The freight station of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Narberth will soon be a thing of the past. The building on the south side of the tracks for long identified with the railroad facilities was demolished this week. Work started on Monday and proceeded at a rapid pace.

This is in accordance with the railroad's plan for the development of the Narberth station. The first of the year saw the official removal of the freight station to Wynnewood. The present step is a further translation into action of the plan which someday may give Narberth an adequate and beautiful station.

The freight station was built over 15 years ago, being completed on February 1, 1913. It did a fairly brisk business during the past years, but its removal was not seriously objected to by the Board of Trade.

Rumor has it that all the tracks but one will be removed and that work on the concourse will start immediately. This will do much toward alleviating traffic congestion at the station and will also provide considerable parking facilities. Besides these practical effects the general appearance of the south side of the station grounds will be immeasurably improved.

SCOUTS HOLD CAMPOREE

Narberth Man in Charge of Important Feature.

Many Main Line Boy Scouts will attend the big show of the scouts, the Camporee, at the Commercial Museum on Friday and Saturday, March 9 and 10. The program, which is to be the greatest exhibition of camping ever presented, will be continuous throughout the two evenings. The entire Commercial Museum is undergoing changes preparatory to the staging of this prodigious event.

Norman J. MacDonald, of Essex and Price avenues, Narberth, is in charge of the Wilderness Camp Group, one of the largest features of the Camporee. The general aim of the Camporee is to display the enormous scope of scouting and incidentally history for scouting will undoubtedly be created.

D. A. R. HOLD BENEFIT

On Thursday, March 1, the Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold a benefit. Tickets may be secured from the chairmen, Mrs. John Nash and Mrs. Joseph Miller, or from any member of the chapter.

CALL WRONG COMPANIES

When a boiler exploded in a Narberth residence, at 405 Anthwyn road, 1.30 P. M. Sunday, the Cynwyd and West Manayunk fire companies responded to an alarm which through an error was not given the Narberth Fire Company. Little damage was done.

H. & H. GET PERMIT

Horn and Hardart, Philadelphia bakers and restaurateurs, have taken out a building permit to make alterations to the store opposite the Ardmore Theater, at 23 W. Lancaster avenue, Ardmore. According to information available this week, they plan to establish a retail pastry shop, with a view ultimately to opening a restaurant.

LAST GARDEN TALK

The last of the series of garden talks under the auspices of the Bala-Cynwyd Garden Club will be given Thursday morning at 10.15 in the Cynwyd Presbyterian Church.

FIREMEN HONORED IN BIG BANQUET

Over 200 at Annual Affair in Elm Hall on Thursday Night.

SHOW MOTION PICTURES

If the attendance at the annual Firemen's banquet Thursday night had been any greater, part of the gathering would have been served on the stairs. Over two hundred men were seated about the tables. It was clearly an occasion of civic spirit and of good fellowship. Fire-fighting, particularly in its volunteer phases, was the chief topic of the evening, and appreciation was heaped upon the local men for their service to the community.

Tristan B. duMarais, president of the company, was toastmaster, calling upon many guests for brief talks, and directing the affair with tact and skill. At the speakers table were a number of visiting chiefs and local personalities. Council and the school board were well represented.

In welcoming the guests, Mr. duMarais praised the work of the firemen, calling attention to the fact that they must be possessed of qualities mental, physical and financial. The latter reference dealt not only with town support, but with the money loss suffered by the volunteers in going out on duty.

From Philadelphia, in the absence of Chief Ross Davis, came Battalion Chief Ferrier and Anthony McGrenn, head of the city fire school. These men spoke at length of the training and choosing of firemen, and of the dangers confronting them in their work.

Burgess Henry A. Frye lauded the firemen in the name of the borough. In particular he pointed to Chief Noel's twenty-five years with the company. The audience chuckled at the tale of Fred Walzer's adventures as a ladder-scaler in one of the fires of years ago.

Dr. Albert C. Barnes, head of the Barnes Foundation of Merion and a mainstay of the local company, drew a parallel between fire-fighting and art. "Firemanship," he said, "is an art as painting, sculpture, music or writing—training makes the man in each case."

Daniel Leitch, president of Council and J. J. Cabrey each spoke briefly in recognition of the borough's debt to its firemen. Peter C. Hess, assistant chief of the Cynwyd company and Lower Merion township treasurer, stressed the growth of co-operation between the Main Line companies.

Chief Charles V. Noel praised his men and thanked the gathering for its expressions of good will. Shingle roofs, against which the chief has waged a vigorous campaign for years, came in again for his condemnation. He expressed a fear that some day Narberth's record of no serious fires would be broken by a general conflagration chargeable to the wood roofs.

In defining the reason for a fireman's enthusiasm he said, "We go to the fires so we can come home afterward knowing that we have stopped the blaze with little damage."

The evening was concluded with the exhibition of three reels of pictures. Scenes of the drills at the Sesqui, of the training school and of two big fires were shown. One of these blazes was a five-alarm grain elevator fire—the other the destruction of Broad Street Station.

TO HOLD DANCES

Under new management, consisting of a group of well-known Narberth young men, a series of dances will be run each Saturday night in the new Narberth Theater Hall. The dances, each to be known as "The Saturday Night Hop" will have music by the orchestra of Bob Savill, who is a Narberthite, as is also the drummer, Dick Gillis. It is hinted that a former Lower Merion football player will be "gatemanager," and that a master of ceremonies will be on hand.

UTILITY COMPANY
PROMOTES EHMANN

Main Line Superintendent Is Made Assistant Manager.

Edwin W. Ehmman has been appointed assistant manager of the Main Line Division of the Philadelphia Suburban-Counties Gas and Electric Company, in addition to his duties as superintendent of the Main Line Division in charge of operations and maintenance.

This announcement was made this week by H. H. Ganser, vice president and general manager of the Philadelphia Suburban Company, who also announced other changes in the various divisions of the company, made to co-ordinate more closely the work of the Philadelphia Suburban-Counties Gas and Electric Company, which in May last year came into existence as the result of a merger of the Counties Gas and Electric Company and the Philadelphia Suburban Gas and Electric Company.

Mr. Ehmman has had a broad experience in the gas and electric industries, in which he has spent his entire business career. He entered the employ of the United Gas Improvement Company in 1909 as cadet engineer in the Philadelphia Gas Works organization, and when the Counties Gas and Electric Company and the Philadelphia Suburban Gas and Electric Company were merged in 1927 he became superintendent of the Main Line Division, at Ardmore.

KIWANIS NOTES

Murdock P. Clancy addressed the regular weekly meeting of the Main Line Kiwanis Club, which was held at the Casa Del Rey at Haverford on Tuesday, February 21, at 6.30 P. M.

Mr. Clancy, of the Merion Title & Trust Company, who had charge of the meeting, had arranged a program in honor of George Washington, inasmuch as the meeting was on the eve of Washington's birthday.

The program was arranged in such a way that various members of the club discoursed on the different phases of Washington's life. Washington, the boy, was assigned to J. Everett Brown; Washington, the man, Edred J. Pennell; Washington, the commander, Fred J. Talone; Washington, the President, Thomas W. Cronin; the death of Washington, M. P. Burlingame, and Washington, the immortal, E. E. Burlingame.

All of the speakers read excerpts from the leading authorities on Washington, and this unique program was very well received.

The attendance prize, presented by Reese F. Mahan, was won by C. E. Wilson, of Bryn Mawr.

James F. Barrett, Sr.

Solemn requiem mass was observed in St. Colman's Church, Ardmore, 9.30 A. M. Wednesday, for James F. Barrett, Sr., who died Sunday. The Rev. Raymond O'Donnell was assisted by Rev. Daniel McKinley and Rev. Charles Collins, of Overbrook Seminary. Interment was in St. Agnes' Cemetery, West Chester.

Mr. Barrett, who was 66 years of age, was a resident of Ardmore for 10 years, and was a clerk in the Autocar Company until the first of January when he became ill. He was a member of the Holy Name Society, St. Colman's Church, and of Division No. 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians, in West Chester, where he was born.

Surviving him are his wife, a brother, John Barrett, Narberth; a sister, Mrs. Martin Welsh, West Chester, and three sons, John F. Barrett and Hubert J. Barrett, Ardmore, and James F. Barrett, Jr., Lansdale. Pallbearers at the funeral included Hugh Sheridan, Thomas Hickey, Martin Costello, Patrick Schofield and Peter Henry, of Ardmore, and Richard Lacey, of Narberth.

Captains Sextette

Betty Cook of Narberth under whose leadership the Lower Merion girls' basketball team has run up a record this season of four victories, three defeats and one tie. A member of the senior class, she is also president of the girls' Hi-Y Club.

MEET ENDS IN TIE,
BUT MERION WINS

Maroon and White Mermen
Get Decision on League's Rules.

The age-old problem: What happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object? The answer in swimming meets at least is unreservedly a tie.

That is exactly what happened when Lower Merion's warriors clashed in a dual meet with the Haverford High mariners Monday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. pool in Ardmore. The score at the end of the afternoon's splashing was 30-30, but Lower Merion is credited with the win as her color bearers won the relay event, and the rules of the Suburban League say "when a meet ends in a tie the team winning the relay race wins the meet."

Coach Beach's proteges began the meet in dead earnest, capturing the relay race by a comfortable margin. This opening victory later proved worth its weight in gold.

Ties seemed to be a feature of this unusual meet—Mulhern, Haverford ace, barely nosed out his team mate, Hoffman, and Roache, of Lower Merion, who were tie for second honors in the second event.

Glenn, Lower Merion, and Dunn, Haverford, splashed a spectacular neck-and-neck affair to decide the winner of the 50-yard backstroke; each put forth his best efforts, but at the finish of the race both touched the board at the same moment. The 50-yard breast stroke was equally exciting—Wistar from Haverford, and Nelms, of Lower Merion, kept even most all the way, but with a final last surerhuman effort the Haverford lad managed to win out by a foot.

Beatty had little competition in the 220-yard race, except that offered by his teammate Dothard, who finished three or four yards back of the Lower Merion victor.

New Model Play

The versatile group who last season presented a popular entertainment under the title, "Everybody Laughs," will give the same play in the "1928 Model" at the Ardmore Woman's Club auditorium Saturday evening, March 10. Like automobile manufacturers, the producers have retained the best features of last year's model and added many new and improved ones. The affair will be held under the auspices of the U. U. G. of the Ardmore Baptist Church.

FIGHT ON BUS LINE EXTENSION HINTED

Traction and Rail Interests
Want Local Busses Out of City Center.

SEE WAIT ON NEW LINE

If the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company in asking the approval of the Public Service Commission to its taking over of the Montgomery Bus Company lines in Lower Merion and Narberth seeks to have any of those lines extended into Philadelphia from their present terminus in Overbrook, it will meet opposition from the Philadelphia and Western Electric Traction Company, from the Philadelphia and West Chester Traction Company and very probably also from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

This became evident last Thursday when hearing on the petition of the P. R. T. was to have been held before Examiner Wolfe in Philadelphia City Hall, but was postponed to March 8. J. L. Adams, president of the Philadelphia and Western Company, pointed out that the P. R. T. by asking extension into the city for the Main Line busses would be entering into competition with his company and others now transporting suburban residents to the city center. His company for one would fight the extension move, he declared.

No indication has been given by the P. R. T. that it will seek the extension.

The hearing last week it was believed was continued because proper notification had not been sent to Lower Merion township, Narberth borough and other governing bodies whose territories will be effected when the P. R. T. assumes control of the Montgomery bus lines.

No information has yet been forthcoming on a date for inauguration of service on Wynnewood avenue, Merion and Wynnewood roads, Narberth, on which streets the Montgomery bus secured permission recently from the Public Service Commission for a new bus line from Overbrook to Bryn Mawr. It is believed that this franchise was secured as a safeguard against another operator going in on this route, and that immediate service will not be undertaken. To hold the franchise however, the line must be inaugurated within a period of two years.

Civic Improvements

Anything which tends to make our town a more beautiful and attractive place in which to live is so much to the good. The removal of the freight station is another step in the right direction. It is evidence of the Pennsylvania Railroad's good faith in regard to its station program, bringing its realization that much nearer.

Whether the disappearance of the freight station will be followed by the removal of the siding tracks on the south side remains to be seen. The natural inference would be that such will be the case.

If this occurs the stage is set for the development of the long sought "Concourse" on the south side which will not only relieve traffic congestion at the station, but will also aid vastly in making Narberth more attractive from the train windows.

It may even prove to be a boon to all-day parkers, and, by removing some of this breed from the streets of the business section, take more wind from the sails of the street widening adherents.

HERE AND HEREABOUTS

"Spectator" Comments on Borough Annexation Plan.

To the Editor of Our Town:
The proclamation of the Secessionists last week soon stirred the expostulations of Home Rule, and we may look for quite a time of it if the phone calls we have had mean very much. It won't do a bit of harm, either, to thrash the matter out once again, even if the subject is as perennial as the Dempsey-Tunney fight, as it may very well be that new angles will be discovered and new reasons advanced for or against the present posture of affairs. As it is, Mr. Burns and his friends must submit a great deal more than has been said or proven before we can yield our substance for a shadow, but we are quite willing to concede that a decidedly stronger case can be made for a consolidation than the "opening gun" has made out for it. Maybe a much more convincing array of facts is in store for us, and, overlooking the fact that it has been indicated that any counter opinion must be regarded as hokus-pokus, we think if we touch lightly on the few points which have been advanced, the advantages of the merger may not be so inexplicable to our slow intelligence as they certainly are at this time.

For instance, it is said that we are spending $10,000 in duplicating expenses already incurred by the township for similar kind of service. Does this mean that the present township cost would not have to be increased if Narberth came into the fold, and if it does mean that, wouldn't it seem that the township is organized on a pretty extravagant basis at the present time, and isn't the spirit of this chase the elimination of extravagance? We indicated at the start that we are apt to be thick about these things, and we won't be angry if you agree that we are, but there are others just as obtuse and these questions ought to be answered in plain fashion. We don't pretend to know how this amount of $10,000 is computed or what it is supposed to represent. We couldn't see any such total in the financial report which was printed in last week's paper. We'll agree, however, that Mr. Burns is right about it and also that it could all be saved by rolling ourselves into L. M. T.

First of all, we could cut Fletcher Stites out of that choice century he gets every annum. That has long been a burning question and the expenditure always was regarded as very much out of order, eight-and-a-half big berries per month, and whilst the man we could get for five a month might not be good enough to be a State Senator or to get up the papers for a Tacony-Palmira bridge, still he might be good enough for us, and even if the marriage does not take place we ought to be alert to the huge hundred-dollar plum our present Solicitor is shaking down every time a new year rolls around.

The opportunity would also be afforded to put the skids under that $33.33 per month which Charley Noel draws just for fusing two nights a week over borough records and making sure that they are all right. Why, that's as much as a B. & L. Secretary gets, or a Third Assistant Kleagle, and why should Charley have a Cadillac, anyhow? It is, without a doubt, high time we were getting after these things and what shouldn't we do to George, Suplee for getting $200 a month for only 17 jobs, with every Sunday night off, except when the sewers overflow, when, of course, he has to work, as should indeed be the case with such a high-priced man.

If the thing comes to pass, it sure would be a grand and glorious occasion for one real house-cleaning and wouldn't we just lampoon and lexow Council about that "general fund" and learn how it is that if they spent $4200 on this item in 1926, why was it they only spent $3600 for the same thing in 1927? What kind of business is that for a growing town, anyhow, and how can you expect a country to be prosperous if you don't keep up the spending? Maybe we are starting to comprehend that $10,000 after all, because we have not included that third-of-one per cent. the town treasurer gets for being accountable for our money bags, not less than $400, would you believe it, and neither have we listed that $200 per week those foxy firemen charge for renting rooms to our legislative body. The light is starting to come in and we begin to see where the "ten grand" is spent, but our poor heads reels just the same, as the Secessionists claim we will save 60 per cent. of our taxes by being swallowed up, and 60 per cent. represents $60,000 and over, as we are only paying $100,000 now on the borough end, and that is the end we are talking about, and they say we can save $60,000 by saving $10,000 or what was it said, anyhow? And if we had some ham we could have some ham and eggs if we had some eggs.

The money we owe is for value received, streets, playground, etc. Would such things have cost less under township auspices? Would they have come to pass under township auspices? Are we seeking a partner to help us pay the bills which we have contracted and what are we going to offer the partner for what we want him to do for us? And meanwhile what kind of streets are those we see in the Anthony Farms section?

As regards the schools, why do we have to make faces at our own facilities and what do you say is the matter with Mr. Wilson and his assistants? We take it that the personnel, the staff of teachers, is far, far more important than construction or equipment, and most men with an ability to properly measure their experience can only regard a whole lot of modern school procedure as so much blah and fol-de-rol. This might open us up to some vicious onslaughts, but we'll let it ride because we believe it is true. Nevertheless, we press the question as to what it is we lack, and wherein have McCarter and Miller and Wilson and the teachers failed us? If it is merely the fact that we only have one school where we require two, why can't we discuss that feature of the case on its merits? Cynwyd, in the township, also needs more than it has, from the standpoint of convenience and other things. Are they getting it? Where is the suburban community that is 100 per cent. satisfied on the school question? Will busses from the South Side answer our needs, or is such service already in existence? We don't know, but we can conceive that additional consideration might very well be given to the balmy side of our borough. We do know that the young people who have gone out from our Narberth schools are very much of a credit to it, as a whole, and the present crop ought to be if proper control, aided by a tight pull on the apron-strings, is exercised on the flaming youth spirit that everywhere abounds, and which is said to make school work more difficult than ever before. We have gone pretty far with pampering, and an over-solicitude for the exceeding comfort of our youth proves no real affection or Christian accountability.

If our school rate is higher than that of the township, it means, of course, that we are working off a debt that they do not have, as certainly our operating costs are no higher. Is it the intention to ask the township to saddle this debt or is somebody under the impression that the more schools you have the lower the unit cost is? The Philadelphia situation would soon put a quietus to that theory and the whole subject would appear to resolve itself to the indisputable fact that we are only paying for what we have received, and there is ample evidence that we have received full value. If the school population of the South Side does not warrant a separate new school, then we might very well consider drawing on the outside, in the same manner as we hire the cops, and, of course, the high school arrangement, but even this contingency is no warrant for the urge that we should wrap ourselves up in the township and pass on forever to oblivion.

We wonder where Wohlert is going to stand in this scrap, but we don't think we'll be wondering long.

HOKUS-POKUS

To the Editor of Our Town:
The Amalgamation Committee of ours warns all those who disagree with it (him) that they are dealing in hokus-pokus.

How can they when it (he) controls that commodity?

It is to laugh!

JOEL YELLEK.

PAVEMENT WIDENING

To the Editor of Our Town:
Street widening has had its ups and downs in the news columns and seems to be in a state of (innocuous desuetude) just at present. It would seem that the ultimate object of the street widening idea would be to widen the roadbed by pushing the building line back but allowing at the same time the present ten-foot sidewalks.

These ten-foot sidewalks are the elusive parts of some of highways and it seems sometimes that the fifty-foot streets and roads on the north side of the borough are narrowed at the convenience of the abutting property owner. Thorny hedges projecting out within five feet of the curb on Dudley avenue are a nuisance and should be taken off the public highway and put back to the ten foot from the curb line.

How wide is Haverford avenue? How wide is the roadway and how wide are the sidewalks supposed to be? How come that Harry Wall's hedge compels one to brush up to the tires of a parked car on a rainy day when all the buildings are placed back at a reasonable distance on this part of Haverford avenue? What's the idea of this "neck of the bottle" effect anyway?

How come that there is no sidewalk on Haverford avenue, west of Essex avenue, on the south side and only a narrow one on the north side of the street? If we are going to consider paving this street let us first find out where it is. How come that the playground is built on the Haverford avenue that was and who will donate the land for a new one? Why pave Haverford avenue from Essex to Conway avenues and not run it all the way to Wynnewood road?

Up on Haverford avenue in the Shirley road section dead tree stumps block the sidewalk. Why don't the owners take them out and plant a row of new shade trees?

Oh where! oh where! is Haverford avenue? And why wouldn't it be a good idea to start a sidewalk widening campaign first and then consider the widening of streets?

NARBERTH WELL OFF

To the Editor of "Our Town":
So now we learn that our separate borough is a useless function; an extravagance from all economic line of reasoning; that we are a "White Elephant" from a political standpoint even more so than the separate schools, and we learn all this from some of our own borough residents.

This is astonishing to those of us who are familiar with our own "Home Town" and its history, knowing that every dollar of taxes is expended under efficient management for the maintenance and betterment of our community. Is it possible that we could expect more from authorities who would have no special interest in our "borough" other than from a tax revenue standpoint for the benefit of the township? Is it possible that our roads and other facilities—to which we point with pride—would be as well maintained as at present? I fear we would be lost in the shuffle.

The gentleman whose committee is so perturbed by the fact that Narberth continues as a borough needs to know his onions better. The township's citizens receive practically no direct returns from taxes they pay, except for schools. If my memory serves me right, it is not so long ago that the township's taxes were substantially increased, and despite this are bound to be higher during the next few years. During the same period our Narberth taxes are bound to be reduced—steps already taken for 1928 with reference to Narberth taxes indicate that fact. In 1930, or sooner, we can build another school if necessary, without increasing the rate which will be effective at that time.

As a matter of fact the township's school problem is much more difficult than ours, and if their school rate was 25 mills they could still use it all. The plan to consolidate might have had some merit 15 years ago, but it is utterly nonsensical at this time. The "Committee" should find a more intelligent outlet for its energies.

OPEN FRIDAY EVENINGS FROM 7 UNTIL 9

A PAGE FOR NARBERTH'S CHURCHES

St. Margaret's Catholic Church Founded 1900 by Father Cowley

Was the Guiding Spirit of the Church for Quarter-Century.

This is the fifth of a series of articles giving the history of Narberth's splendid group of Churches. All Saints P. E. Church will be the subject next week.

In 1900 Rev. Richard F. Cowley was charged with the duty of establishing St. Margaret's Roman Catholic Church in Narberth and the parish assigned him included a sparsely settled countryside of widespread dimensions, reaching far over to Manayunk, with great stretches of territory in other directions. Since that time, of course, new churches have come and constant revisions in the boundary lines have been made as the years have gone. The latest change was in 1927 when a new parish was established at Gladwyne.

Father Cowley said his first Mass as rector of St. Margaret's on Christmas day of 1900 in the home of Nicholas Thouron at Montgomery and Merion avenues, and in the beginning Elm Hall was used as a temporary place of worship.

Subsequently a house on the west side of Forest avenue, immediately opposite the present parochial school, served the needs of the small congregation, and later the present rectory was purchased and used as a chapel until a basement church was completed on the adjacent land.

In due course the present handsome church was erected, whilst the parish grew apace, but nevertheless Father Cowley continued for 20 years without an assistant, imposing on himself a task which collected a heavy toll from the meager physical strength which he possessed.

During the last five or six years the Catholic population of the community has increased at a rate which exceeded the growth of the previous 20 years, with the result that the school building became an imperative necessity, and 1925 saw the erection of the present modern structure on Forest avenue at a cost of $75,000.

Previous to this, the Sisters of Mercy had assigned one of their buildings on the Merion Academy's grounds for the use of St. Margaret's children until such time as more adequate provision could be made to comply with the Catholic conviction that religion must accompany and guide education if the heart as well as the mind of the pupil is to be properly directed and a well-balanced and well-ordered after-life assured as far as careful preparation can accomplish.

The new school building is regarded as a model of its kind and splendid scholastic results are being accomplished.

Father Cowley died on September 13, 1926, less than a year after the celebration of the silver anniversary of the parish and pastorate, beloved and mourned by the entire community.

He was succeeded by the present rector, Rev. Robert F. Hayes, for more than 15 years in charge of St. Mary's Church at Coaldale, Pa., where he was held in high esteem for his capabilities as a priest and as an educator. The growth of the parish has continued under Father Hayes' administration and since the summer of last year it has been necessary to have four Masses on Sunday, all of them numerously attended, a wide contrast to the situation even 10 years ago.

The new pastor soon came to know his flock and there is a universal recognition of the lofty ideals which inspire his procedure, and of his earnest desire to make the Christian faith a vital, practical thing in the lives of his communicants.

The installation of a pipe organ, which will probably be ready for the Easter services, is an additional evidence of the growth of this parish and it is said that it is planned to have a High Mass every Sunday instead of on alternate Sundays, as at present.

The present assistant rector is Rev. Henry J. O'Connor, who has particular charge of the activities of the boys and girls, and who also directs the Sodality.

During the present season of Lent there are devotions on Wednesday and Friday evenings and Masses at 7 o'clock and 8 o'clock each week-day morning.

Narberth Presbyterian Church

Rev. John Van Ness, M. A., Minister

The Lenten season affords the Church of Christ a fine opportunity to renew her covenant and to reaffirm her conservatism. During this season, on Sunday evenings Mr. Van Ness will deliver a series of sermons on the events of the Passion of our Lord. The sermon themes are as follows:

Feb. 26—"The Ecclesiastical Trial."

March 4—"The Civil Trial."

March 11—"Jesus and Herod."

March 18—"A Faultless Prisoner."

March 25—"To His Own Place."

April 1—"On the Way to the Cross."

In these meetings there will be a gospel message and gospel singing. The Senior Endeavor Society will attend in a body and a young people's chorus will have a special part in the order of exercises each evening. A very cordial invitation is extended to all the meetings of this church.

Baptist Church of the Evangel

Robert E. Keighton, Minister

G. A. Studdert-Kennedy has a remarkable poem called "Indifference." One stanza, with an apparent substitution that conveys the spirit of the original, follows:

*When Jesus came to Narberth they simply passed Him by,
They never hurt a hair of Him, they only let Him die;
For men had grown more tender, and they would not give Him pain,
They only just passed down the street, and left Him in the rain.*

The concluding lines are:

*The crowds went home and left the streets without a soul to see,
And Jesus crouched against a wall and cried for Calvary.*

SHULL, ROTARY SPEAKER

Tells History of International Organization and Local Club.

The history of Rotary, both local and international, was the subject Tuesday of Alvin E. Shull, speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotarians at the Cynwyd Club.

Mr. Shull was organizer and first president of the local club, and is a well-informed exponent of Rotary ideals and history. His talk, as usual, was enlivened with puns and quotations.

The speaker told of the formation of Rotary in 1905 by Paul P. Harris, a Chicago attorney. The second club was organized in San Francisco, and others followed rapidly. In January of this year there were 2729 clubs in 44 countries.

The Balcynar Club bears the number 2259, and received its charter on March 29, 1926. The Rev. George Emerson Barnes, of the Philadelphia Club, was delegated by the district governor to form the club. Mr. Barnes was present at Tuesday's meeting and spoke briefly.

Attendance at the district conference at Atlantic City in May was urged by Mr. Shull, in addition to representation at the international convention in Minneapolis.

REGISTRATION LIGHT

Assessors Predict Small Primary Vote, Lacking Contest.

It was a case of "very little business" for the registry assessors who sat Tuesday and Wednesday at their polling places in the 13 districts of Lower Merion and the three in Narberth to enroll voters who were not already on their lists for the primary election on April 24. Few appeared to have their names added and in no district did the total exceed a few score.

The general lack of interest was attributed by the assessors to the fact that there will be no outstanding contests in the primary. Following the light registration, they predicted a small vote in the primary.

Radnor High Yields to Chester.

The Chester Y. M. C. A. swimming team defeated the Radnor High School mermen in a dual meet at the Ardmore "Y" pool Saturday by a score of 39 to 17. The Chester boys swam in their usual form, capturing every first place except in the breast stroke, where both of their entries were disqualified.

Berrian and Stout, the mainstays of the Radnor natators, captured three second places, while DeSattre won the breast stroke. The Red and White team was seriously handicapped by the absence of Moore and Kater, first-class breast and back-stroke swimmers.

The 50-yard dash gave practically the only thrill of the meet, when Kimmer (Chester), and Berrian (Radnor), fought out practically the entire distance, Kimmer winning by a close margin.

Results.

Relay—Won by Chester: Wilson, Hamilton, Urgates, Kimmes.

50-yard free style—Won by Kimmes (Chester), second, Berrian (Radnor); third, Wilson (Chester).

50-yard back stroke—Won by Hamilton (Chester), second, Malmel (Chester); third, DeSattre (Radnor).

220-yard free style—Won by Hamilton (Chester), second, Moore (Chester); third, Trout (Radnor).

Breast stroke—Won by DeSattre (Radnor). Second and third disqualified.

100-yard free style—Won by Kimmes (Chester), second, Berrian (Radnor); third, Wynne (Radnor).

Diving—Won by Lilley (Chester), second, Trout (Radnor); third, Wetzler (Chester).

Meats Aid Health

"In addition to supplying, very simply and easily, the protein necessary for life and growth and health, meat carries the iron and sulphur needed by the blood. The vegetarian must not only look to his protein, but he must pay added attention to his iron requirement."

This statement was recently made by Dr. Ruth F. Wadsworth, who thus combatted the ascetic prejudice against meat-eating.

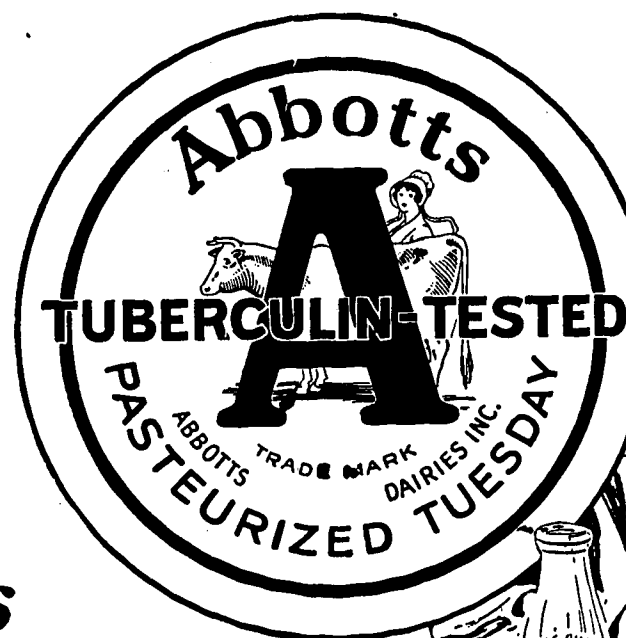

Man needs meats.—Vegetables and fruit alone are not sufficient to keep the average person healthy.—That was the gist of her findings.

READING COURSES HERE

Adult Library Readers May Follow Lists.

There have been increasing demands recently by borrowers of the Narberth Library for copies of the "American Library Association" "Reading with a Purpose" series, and to meet the demand the library has purchased several of the booklets which contain the more popular lists.

These lists are carefully prepared guides to reading special subjects, each one written by a specialist in his subject, and a specialist who is as interested in the imparting of knowledge as in its discovery. They are written in plain language, are reliable in fact, and recommend books which ordinary persons can read and enjoy.

While originally intended for those whose education was somewhat limited in youth, they have proved most popular among high school and college graduates. These pamphlets may be purchased for a nominal sum at the library, or they may be borrowed to take home for study, or they may even be used at the library for reference. The complete list follows:

"English Literature," by W. N. C. Carlton.
 "Poetry of Our Own Times," by Marguerite Wilkinson.
 "Founders of the Republic," by Claude Bowers.
 "Ten Pivotal Figures of History," by Ambrose W. Vernon.
 "The Europe of Our Day," by Herbert Adams Gibbons.
 "Some Great American Books," by Dallas Lore Sharp.
 "Twentieth Century American Novels," by William Lyon Phelps.

SOCIAL WORK EXPLAINED

"Modern social work," the speaker went on, "has discovered the individual—a complex center of all sorts of conflicting and interweaving needs and interests, all of which are natural, all of which are parts of life, all of which contribute to make him what he is, and all of which need to be considered in helping him to become something else. Material relief may be necessary, usually is, but it alone is not enough. It must be sufficient to have some effect in helping the individual onto his feet; it must not be given at the cost of self-respect, nor of ambition, nor of integrity. It must be a part of the general plan which takes into account all the other factors that go to make up the personality of the individual, and all the facts that make up his life in relation to others.

"So social work is not content to throw a dime to a ragged urchin on the street corner, nor to send a basket of groceries to a wretched family in a back street, nor to arrest a deserting father and send him to jail—and stop there. All those things may be necessary and desirable, but they are empty and futile gestures unless they are followed up with patient, constructive effort that really reaches the seat of the difficulty.

"Now when one begins to deal with human beings on this basis, not as persons who need the doctor, or who need food, or who are ignorant, or vicious, or what not—but as human beings, with precisely the same right to life and liberty and the pursuit of happiness—if we are going to help them, we must know much more about them and all their relationships, than we ever knew before. And so modern social work emphasizes this method which we call 'investigation.' This means simply intelligent following up of problems, gaining confidence of people and keeping it by the sense of professional responsibility. . . . It is a frank straightforward, intelligent, conscientious, devoted effort to understand, and to get the client to understand, the real source and seat of the difficulty, and to help him plan a way to overcome it. It is merely the application of intelligence to the delicate task of helping people to make the most of themselves.

"There is no such thing," Mr. Pray concluded, "as a dependent defective and delinquent class. Each one of us possesses every one of these characteristics at times. There is only a difference of circumstances in our case."

B. & L. PLAN EXPLAINED

CONTINUED FROM THE FIRST PAGE Thursday of each month in the fire house. It is open from seven until nine on that evening to receive dues. The next meeting will be Thursday, March 1, and the new 45 series will be opened at that time.

Any of the directors or officers of the association will be glad to explain the building and loan idea, and make arrangements for stock in this new series. Both the Narberth National Bank and the Merion Title and Trust Company will receive applications.

The monthly payments in the long term series are one dollar for each share of stock, and the monthly payments for the short term series are two dollars for each share of stock.

The new residences of Narberth are invited to become stock-holders in the Narberth Building and Loan Association, and it is hoped that the old stock holders will increase the number of shares they are now carrying by taking additional stock in the new forty-fifth series.

about the Garden

SWEET PEAS. Among the first outdoor jobs is the sowing of sweet pea seeds, about March 17 or as soon as the ground can be worked. If you have a place that is open and sunny and can provide a trellis of wire, brush or material on which the vines can twine you can have sweet peas. The next requirement is a rich and deeply dug soil, if manure is used keep it deep down, about 18 inches. Better still dig a trench 15 inches deep and mix half humus with the soil and a generous quantity of bone flour. Fill up with this mixture to within six inches of the surface, hilling up the remaining soil to the back of the trench so that it can be drawn around the plants as they grow taller. The seeds can be planted about one inch deep and four inches apart in a double row and watered well, a light mulch of straw will keep the soil from drying out.

For a 20-foot row we will need six 10-cent packets, two of the early flowering and four of the regular orchid flowered, or Spencer types. The seedsman's catalog offers a wide and intriguing range of colors, but the lighter shades always look more like sweet peas.

LAWNS. An early spring consideration is the lawn, old or new. Some people take lawns seriously and some people and all builders just plant grass seed—any kind. There are two separate and distinct kinds of lawns, the blue grass lawn for alkaline or sweet soil and the bent grass lawn for acid or sour soil. Take your choice, you cannot have both in the same place, although the ordinary mixture contains both grasses, the mixers evidently figures that if one grass doesn't grow the other one will, on the neutral soil that most of us have we do not get a good stand of red top because our soil is not acid enough and we do not get a good stand of Kentucky blue because our soil is not alkaline enough.

Then let us tear out the old lawn and turn the sod under and start to build a real lawn. Have the soil analysed, the chances are it is slightly acid, and go after a blue grass lawn or a bent grass lawn.

Let us take a tip from the golf course and use bent grasses, they cost more per pound than builders' mixtures but we only buy it once. Bent grasses thrive in acid soils and also in shady places as well as sunny ones. The soil can be made acid by raking in granulated peat moss or humus and can be kept acid by using sulphate of ammonia as a fertilizer. Few weeds thrive in the acid soil and the grasses being of a spreading nature grow so thickly that weeds are crowded out.

While fall planting is better for grass seed, on account of fewer weeds being active, lawns can be built in the spring, provided, however, that the newly planted lawn is rolled very solid and kept continually moist.

Old lawns must be rolled with a heavy roller just as soon as the frost is out because the sod has most likely been heaved off the clay sub-soil and the roots have air pockets to die in instead of soil to grow in.

ANNUAL MEETING

The regular meeting of the stockholders of the Narberth Building and Loan Association for the election of officers and directors from nominations made at the February meeting will be held Thursday, March 1, in Borough Hall at 9 P. M.
